COC Decides Not to Donate Right-of-Way

State Rd. 80 right-of-way needed for the widening of that road through this city will have to be purchased from the Belle Glade Chamber of Commerce.

In a unanimous vote Tuesday evening the Chamber's board of directors decided it would not donate the right-of-way for which the DOT is asking. Board members voted to ask the DOT for an offer on the right-of-way involved.

Chamber President Ben Clarke explained that the right-of-way needed would strip the Chamber of its nearly meager parking area on the west side of the building. He said the building really would not be usable.

In a somewhat related decision the board decided to accept the city's offer of office space in the new city hall complex. It asked that the city give the board a chance to make suggestions as to the size of the space and its design.

Clarke informed the board he had been cautioned by a number of people that the new office space was too small. He said it was their feeling the city might exert too much control over the Chamber if it owned the building in which the Chamber existed.

But the board decided against sending out questionnaires to the membership at large asking their opinion on the matter.

The board also heard a "very enthusiastic" report from Mrs. Effie Grear on the work being done on historic Glades Day.

"I am very enthusiastic about this project," said Mrs. Grear. "Even though Belle Glade is a young city it has quite a bit of history."

Mrs. Grear has been asked by the board to head a committee which would look into the possibility of erecting significant historical sites in Belle Glade. Through the beautification committee she has invited several old timers in Belle Glade to come forth and tell their stories.

And she is still looking for more.

"I have learned so many interesting things about our city since I took over this project," said Mrs. Grear. "For instance, the first city hall is still standing. It is an old wooden building behind Kentucky Fried Chicken and still has the date 1929 on it."

The board congratulated Mrs. Grear on the fine job she had done so far in her new position. It decided to support in anyway it could the committee's work.

Mrs. Grear asked that if anyone in Belle Glade had any knowledge of the early Glades to please contact her.

In other action the board set a tentative date of the second Thursday in September for its annual banquet. The banquet committee was also instructed to see if it could line up a guest speaker.

Board member Bob White discussed with the board his meeting with representatives from Motorola regarding emergency phone systems for State Rd. 80. White reported Motorola had a one-button system for about $2,000 per unit.

"There is a possibility of federal funding on a project such as this," said White. "But if we applied for federal funding it might hold up the project as long as a year or two."

Clarke said personally was quite heartened by the talk with the Motorola representatives. He said the cost was way down from discussions held with other companies a year ago.

Bodies Missing

Belle Glade Police Department divers had still not recovered the bodies of two children Tuesday evening who were drowned Monday in the rim canal in the Belle Glade Marina.

A 16-year-old girl was also drowned Monday within an hour and about a mile from the two children who were lost to sight. She had made an unsuccessful attempt to pull herself to shore.

Shirley Brown, a sophomore at Glades Central, had already been pulled to shore by the South Bay Park by the time Deputies Jim and Ray Noland of the Sheriff's Office had arrived on the scene.

Miss Brown, daughter of Betty L. Brown, 2521 Lee St., died in South Bay, was pronounced dead on arrival at Glades General Hospital by Dr. John Grady.

In the meantime, Betty Wm. Williams, mother of Lee Robinson, 8, daughter and son of Mrs. Daisy MacRae Robinson of 965 S.W. Ave. D in Belle Glade, were swept from shore by strong currents in the rim canal at the Belle Glade Marina.

Mrs. Robinson attempted to reach the two with first a stick and then a piece of bark but to no avail.

Hal Porter, who heads Mrs. Robinson's in the Glades, stressed that the man who actually did the drowning will be held responsible.

Porter said the crew has spent the past three to four months working privately in the area.

Oh Happy Day!

Graduation time is a hugging time as Kathy Ballard, one of the 28 seniors to be graduated Monday night at Glades Day School's McWhorter Hall. The class was to receive its diplomas at the Belle Glade campus and the first class to send its entire senior year in the new quarters. Glades Day will be the first of the three local high schools to hold commencement exercises. Christian Day will hold its exercises June 2 and Glades Central will graduate its seniors June 7.

Utilities

Hikes Proposed

Water connections for new customers in Belle Glade could increase $70 per cent and sewer connections could increase more than 200 per cent along with increased water and sewer fees if the city takes the services of its consulting engineers.

If it isn't inflation, Briley-Wild recommends that the city should begin charging more for water and sewer service to help pay for improvements that have been made on the two city systems.

While a person hooking up to the city's water system today would be charged a tap-in fee of $35 if they already have a connecting line available Briley-Wild would charge a tap-in fee from $150 to $200 more than the cost.

The tap-in now charges $75 plus costs.

"It is recommended that the Commission," says recent Briley-Wild report, "increase the minimum from $2 to $2.50 for the first two months (of water) per month."

The recommendation goes on to give graduated prices for water and sewer rates starting at $2.50 per month.

Birchall recommended an increase in sewer rates from $2.50 to $3.00 per residential unit to $3.80 per unit.

Birchall said the operating costs of the sewage treatment plant have increased 10 per cent between 1965 and 1973 and the plant is now allotted a budget 200 per cent higher in 1972-73 than in 1964-65.

Who Could Predict?

Just as we get tired of reading about Washington's Watergate, so do we get tired of reading about Belle Glade's sewer problems.

But, problems we have. And after a couple months of really getting involved in this problem, we are no closer to an answer than when we started. Yet, sewer poses as big a problem to Belle Glade, an answer must be forthcoming in the very near future.

About two months ago we had already set in type a scathing editorial against the city for its short sightedness in this area. We praised Commissioner William Grear for his strong stand in favor of a new sewer system in the northeast section of town.

He said this is what the pollution control people wanted us to do all along and that we weren't going to satisfy them until we do.

We still think Grear is right. A sewer system is needed in the northeast section of town, and we would love to see the city pursue this goal with the same fervor it is now pursuing plans for a new city hall.

But, we first thought in the sewer. The certain depression it is a victim of circumstances so unbelievable, that if anyone had predicted them 10 years ago, he would have been laughed out of town.

For instance, who would have predicted the state would change the way in which it measures whether a sewer plant is effective enough or not? Who would have predicted a two-month, ineffective pollution control agency whose left hand didn't know what the right was doing?

Who could predict.

But all of that is in the past. It is the future—the very existence of our town—that we must place in perspective now.

It is a whole new ball game with a whole new set of rules: And Belle Glade must be able to adapt to these rules, or our growth will be stymied for years to come. A good example of adapting is the fact that we seem to be changing engineers every time. Why go 200-300 miles away to hire an organization which has not, after over a month, provided the county pollution control agency, with the information it said it could produce within three or four days?

Are there not any good engineering firms in Palm Beach County? Wouldn't it be smart and a good economic move as well to have a local engineering firm only 45 minutes away? Hop, skip, and a jump from where the people they need to please?

Belle Glade is on the verge of unprecedented growth. But it can't grow without sewer. And it is up to the city commission to do everything in its power to not only upgrade the present facility, but to pursue with ardent fervor a new facility in the northeast section of town.

Superior Strategy Slipped Maroon Past Gold

Superior strategy did it again.

Gaseous Glenn couldn't stand the gaff Friday when Man Mountain Dean's massive Maroon Machine mangled his gagle of Gold diggers 14-0. (Keep that up and I'll make a sports writer yet!)

When Glenn and I were named home coaches for Friday night's annual spring scrimmage between the varsity Maroon and Gold football teams, I figured I had him whipped.

And when he began giving advice to Rigo Ruiz, the veteran Raider quarterback who was his major reason for hoping to win, I knew I had him licked.

The guarantee came when he started talking about sending in plays...but what can you expect of anyone who picks the Redskins over the Dolphins? He's a natural born loser.

Glenn and I were getting in digs at each other all week about who was going to wind up on the winning side in the scrimmage and it kept up right until the kickoff.

Just before the game, Glenn and Rigo wanted me to take a picture of them. Rigo was wearing a T-shirt with the wording, "What you see is what you get." I warned him then that what he saw was the future of the losing coach and quarterback.

Don't feel too bad about it, though. Rigo. You just had too big an ego around your neck.

Like I said last week, I figured the safest and best strategy for me was to get the Maroon Machine to cross the goal line most often in the three quarters of play that they would permit the Gold to cross the goal.

It was up to Assistant Coaches Johnny Davis and Jay Seider to figure out how to do it. They just combined their tactical experience with a great strategy and that was all she wrote. Done sent Glenn's saddle home!

Course, the running of Alexander Brown, who scored both the touchdowns, and Anthony Moses had had something to do with it. They both looked great.

There were some other good performances turned in too. Willie Terry came up with some pretty good defensive plays but he almost earned the "Wrong Way Corrigan" award when he intercepted a pass and started running with it. He ran for his goal while a whale bunch of us on the sideline were yelling, "The other way! Go the other way!"

Coach Davis got a real belly laugh later when Terry told him, "Coach, I could have made a touchdown."

Defensive play made the difference, though, when the Gold team was threatening twice in the last quarter.

Dicky Sweet, who normally plays center, would be named the Sticker of the Week for dumping Ruiz a good 20 yards behind his line of scrimmage. Then Ruiz got up and hurt himself more by throwing the ball down in frustration and picking up a penalty for unsportsmanlike conduct.

Sweet usually plays a good solid game as center but he showed the other night he could turn in a fine performance at inside linebacker too.

Overall, it looks like the Raiders are going to be another good defensive club. They have three pretty good runners in Alexander Brown, Anthony Moses, and Vernon Smith, that I noticed in particular, and Ruiz passing looked pretty good.

The two things Ruiz needed the other night, that he didn't have, were good blocking and good receivers. Maybe that will work out.

I'll give Glenn credit for being a good loser, though. As head coach, he promptly accepted the full blame for the defeat...then laid it squarely on the shoulders of his assistant coaches, Bill Denny and Dave Campbell.

He will, of course, deny this whole sordid string of sorry behavior but I have photographic evidence.

*****

Had a couple of supposedly unrelated pieces of mail come across my desk last week which, taken hospital care.

The second piece of mail was a release from Palm Beach Junior College which states the students of Edwin V. Pugh, an instructor of American History After 1865, have nicknamed his class "Impeachment 202".

Pugh said his students, "are welcoming the chance to learn more about the impeachment process, no matter what political viewpoint they hold."

Of course, if Burton's survey is valid, Pugh's experience isn't so unlikely, but Pugh throws in a kicker.

On April 17, 1973, Burton's survey brought to trial between the years 1797 and 1936, six men were acquitted, four were removed from office and one, "was not subject to impeachment."

That last one was the most interesting to me. He was, what else? a U.S. Senator. Seems that senators and representatives don't consider themselves impeachable and since they're the ones who do the impeaching, who can argue with them?

It's like the Florida senator who might comment a couple of years ago that the Government in the Sunshine state doesn't apply to the legislature.

It's just this attitude and the resulting problem about who will watch the watchers that convices so many people there is corruption in politics.

To paraphrase the Bible "Legisla- tor purg th thyself."

regular season and that they should quit acting as if they had already lost the game.

It's difficult to put a coaches words on paper and make them have the same effect as when they are spoken. Suffice it to say Werneke's often times stinging remarks prodded the Gold into another fine effort on Saturday and Sunday.

For instance, they wouldn't even consider that old standby, the flea flicker. It was open several times during the game, but they chose to ignore that simple suggestion.

Al opened the triple reverse with a man-in-motion trickshaking back to the quarterback. But Denny and Campbell stuck doggedly to their conservative brand of football.

I have all of these winning suggestions on tape, however and in the very near future I will make public a transcript of these tapes which will prove Werneke's point.

The serious side of Glades Central's annual spring football game was a real eye opener for this honorary head coach. I'm sure there was a method to head coach Al Werneke's madness when he selected Dean and I to head our respective teams.

The writing of us about Glades Central's Raids. We certainly got more acquainted with the personnel that we normally would have had we had the chance to "coach."

It also gives us an insight into the problems of whipping a high school team into shape to play winning football. Motivating such a diverse group, getting them to work together, is an art. I am sure that Werneke is there, but raw material means nothing if the 40 or 50 boys on the team do not work as a cohesive unit.

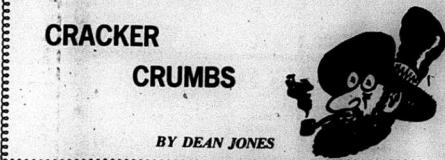

This game was a good case in point. The Gold team threatened three times in the first quarter, but never scored. They made some elementary mistakes and paid for them.

This got them down mentally and the Maroon team took advantage of it, scoring two times quickly just before the end of the half. It was dispirited, bickering, and not hitting the ball down on the grass behind the goal posts to rest while the Jayvee struttet its stuff for one quarter.

Werneke came over and really chewed some tail, though. He told them they were going to be times when they were behind during the

"I urge you, the class of '74, to do everything you can to improve the quality of..."

They quite rightly retaliated by pointing out they didn't have the great leadership provided the Maroon team. (I blush from modesty.)

Like the good sport he is, Glenn accepted the rebuke calmly, kicked a pass, and ran a few ribs, growing something about his (expulsive deleted here) luck.

He then went home to feed his family pets arsenic, except for three kittens, one of which he bludgeoned to death, one of which he strangled and one of which he drowned.

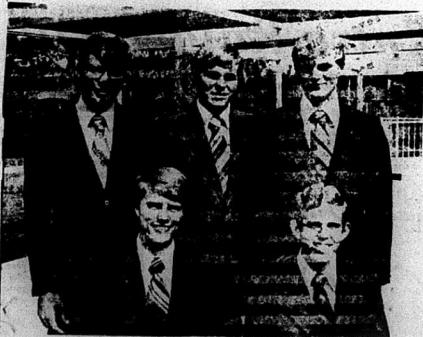

Having quietly vented his hostility in a healthy manner, Glenn went on to end the evening by losing a game of Strategy (a game based on professional football.)

The first was a letter being mailed by Burton Young, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for election to the U.S. Senate seat now held by Sen. Ed Gurney, all state senators and representatives.

Burton said a survey he had taken indicates the primary concern of Floridians, so far as government is concerned, is corruption in government.

Seems that 20.1 per cent of the respondents in the survey of voters in Leon, Duval, Alachua, Marion, Broward and Dade Counties listed corruption as the greatest threat to the Sunshine state. The cost of food and the cost of medical and

Do you wonder why so many people are so upset over "The Exorcist"?

Maybe it spoils their pet image of the Devil as a sort of lovable mischievous elf. Or has it aroused some strange fear that they, themselves may somehow become "possessed"? Let them be assured of one thing: the Devil never enters anyone's life without an invitation. So if you don't play around with him you needn't worry. Furthermore, anyone fully committed to Jesus Christ has no need to fear.

"Dear Mr. Swaim, Today everyone seems to view the world as a collection of groups rather than as a world of individuals. Persons are judged more by their affiliations and classification than by their personal characteristics. Do you think that is the direction that we're going?"

Senator Howard Baker recently said something that I would like to comment on. He said that we have a height-and-weight society, specifically about distinguishing the individual from the herd. I believe he's right in his observation, and that the more conscious of persons we become, the better.

It would be good for us to realize that this is the exact attitude with which Jesus dealt with society. Everyone was stereotyped and was stereotyped. He spoke to the woman at the well, who was a sinner, quite differently than he did to the Pharisees who were also sinners. He realized that people are individuals, not groups. While he gave his life for the world, he gave it for you and me as individuals.

The apostle Paul said, "I no longer count myself as living in the life of the Son of God who lives in me. He loved me and gave his life for me." This is a very basic truth—that when he became a Christian, he was totally involved with Christ as a person, redeemed as an individual.

There's a lot that's right with the world, but we need to believe that if you don't. There are a lot of honest, truth-seeking people in all occupations and walks of life who want, as Paul said to the Corinthians, "To provide honest work not only for the sake of the Lord, but also in the sight of men." It's our responsibility to make this our purpose.

Looks like Glenn ended up on the losing side this time—footballwise, that is.

In case you haven't heard by now (fat chance of that if you've read Glenn and Dean's columns for the past two weeks) Glenn and Dean were named as honorary coaches of the annual Raider Spring football game.

Last week I heard was how Fearless Leader's Gold team had to beat Dean's Maroon team to pieces or vice versa. Friday night was their chance to prove it as they squarely faced each other on the football field.

Of course they had to sneak a preview as to what kind of guys they were "coaching" so they went over to the practice field Thursday afternoon to get a look at the players and to talk with their "assistant coaches."

I decided to tag along with them and see if anything interesting happened and maybe get some inside data on the teams.

As soon as I got there, it was easy to tell the Raiders were enthusiastic about the game. They were divided into two teams and some were already giving cutting remarks to those of the opposite team. The Maroon players were calling the Gold players "Goldiggers". Of course my favorite was when one of the guys on the Maroon team called out to one of the opposing players as he stretched out his arms to catch a pass, "Hey, you remind me of Tiny Tim and that song 'Tiptoe Through the Tulips'!"

Naturally this brought laughs from some of the other guys and even a few chuckles from the coaches.

Well, Friday night came and the contrast in the coaches was evident. Glenn was all smiles and jokes which remind you of the coaches of professional football teams you see on television, with the turtleneck shirts and jackets and Dean came in his everyday work clothes. While Glenn was trying to mess up quarterback Ruiz's mind with his so-called trick plays, Dean was simply loading and reloading his camera as he snapped dozens of pictures.

Apparently Dean had more confidence in his assistant coaches than Glenn, because he let them make all the decisions.

The game progressed into the second quarter with neither team scoring although both had made some pretty sharp plays. Then the Maroon team capitalized on the Gold's mistakes and scored two touchdowns. By the end of the first half the score was 14-0, Gold.

The Gold team almost got on the score board when a Maroon player intercepted a pass and started running the wrong way. Suddenly those on the Maroon side of the field were jumping up and down and yelling "You're going the wrong way! The other way!" He finally realized it and headed back the other way but not for long as the opposing players zeroed in on him and brought him down. But if he had kept on in the direction he started in it would have been clear sailing all the way.

The game ended with Dean on the winning side and poor old Glenn was taking the excuses for his team. Of course he took the blame fully and then laid it squarely on his assistant coaches, claiming they wouldn't use the plays he wanted them to.

Come on now Glenn, everyone knows a GOOD head coach has the first team as to what type of plays to use.

Long nose garfish are ugly, primitive creatures with flint-like scales. While the garfish does well enough to catch fish for room and board, their lack of speed is a factor that limits their diet to injured fish or prey that is slower than the gar. Live healthy shiners can easily outmaneuver a gar, but "the same shiner on a string line" has become reedy bait for the first gar to enter the area.

A hooked gar will make strong runs and will jump quite frequently. The best way to fight such a big bass is garfish.

Several fishery facts that have been overlooked in the past are now becoming common knowledge among anglers. Garfish scales are in demand for certain jewelry and other ornaments, and their eggs make excellent bait for bream and other panfish.

To remove the garfish loin, skin the fish until the back is exposed. Remove the two strips of flesh as cut deep in the fillet chunks and deep fry. Try it, you will like it.

Al Aces One

Glades Central High School head football and golfing coach Al Werneke said this was one of his career Saturday while playing at Mayaco Lakes in West Palm Beach.

Werneke said his ace came on the 7th hole, a 166-yard, par 3 effort made with his driver. He said he was playing with club member Richard McElwan in the Mayaco Lakes Guest Membership Tournament. He said Ralph Warren and Jay Spangler rounded out the foursome.

Maroons Win Intra-Raider Tilt

The Maroon team under the leadership of honorary coach Dean Jones blanked the Gold team led by Glenn Lampy 14-0 in the annual Spring scrimmage.

The aggressive Maroon team defense and the hard running of Alexander Brown, who scored two touchdowns, and Howard Moses, who churned up 138 yards between them was too much for the Gold team.

Coaches Johnny Davis and Jay Seider had their defenses work well enough to stop the passing of Rigo Ruiz and on three different occasions they held down inside the 15 yard line.

The Gold team was led by Rigo Ruiz who completed 7 out of 17 passes for 87 yards. Rigo also rushed for 88 yards in 7 carries.

Washington and Charles Anderson were outstanding in the secondary.

Besides quarterback Rigo Ruiz, Norman Smith rushed for 28 yards in 5 carries and Eli Martin rushed for 25 yards in 6 carries for the Gold.

Pringle and Cornelius caught 5 passes between them for the Gold.

The Raiders will finish up practice Wednesday afternoon, with the 15 minute junior varsity game against the Gold team from making a first down, 3 points for recovering a fumble and 3 points during the past three weeks.

The Raiders will finish up practice Wednesday afternoon, with the 15 minute junior varsity game against the Gold team from making a first down, 3 points for recovering a fumble and 3 points during the past three weeks.

The Gold team did not score but they had 8 first downs during the quarter and they had 10 total for a four yard line at the end of the game.

Although lacking the experience of previous years, the young Raiders look like they have the potential to become a strong football team next year. Quarterback James Davis looked good running the ball and Ken Henderson and Willie Monroe looked good running the ball.

But while Pelet said wages should be tied to increasing prices, he would only answer, "We have to determine it at that time." The question of whether wages should also decrease with price decreases.

Joseph Segor, executive director of Migrant Services Council in Fort Lauderdale, advocated the $4.30 per hour minimum wage and also urged a monitoring system be set up to insure proper timekeeping practices.

U. S. Sugar Corp. vice president and personnel manager Fred Sikes, during his presentation for the industry, recommended the same proposal before recommending a 15 cents-per-hour increase for all agricultural workers.

The industry proposal would bring cutters wages to $2.35 per hour and other workers' wages to $2.70 per hour. Sikes also recommended no new categories be set up for mechanized harvester operators.

In the fair price portion of the hearing, Walter N. Gottschall, attorney representing the Glades Association of Sugar Cane Growers, Inc., protested the holding of the fair price hearing.

Gottschall said the association's protest was based on a complaint investigation by the USDA Office of Investigation concerning the relationship of the association members and Osceola Farms, which processes their cane.

He said the investigation took virtually every facet of fair price determination and said his feelings on the subject should have been heard until the investigation is completed.

He also said the 22-days of notice given by the USDA is insufficient because association members have received final cost figures for the 1973-74 crop and had no time to recommend any intelligent changes.

SMOKING, MATCHES AND FIRE

Smoking and matches are the primary causes of house fires which kill thousands of persons each year and result in millions of dollars of property losses. The first line of defense is to avoid these fire hazards in the home. Here are a few:

Use large, deep ashtrays, and never smoke in bed or in a chair when drowsy.

Make sure matches, cigarettes, cigars, and pipe ashes are completely cold before throwing them out.

Never use a match or smoke near flammable liquids or in places such as attics or closets or near stacks of paper.

Be careful that burning cigarette or pipe ends do not fall into the crevices of upholstered furniture where they can smolder without being detected.

Use safety matches and strike a match away from you. Remove one match from the box or folder at a time, and close it before striking.

County Immunization Program Set

An immunization campaign has been mounted by the Belle Glade County Health Department and county physicians to help meet the legal requirements set by state law. Dr. James Howell, assistant director of county health department, stated:

"We have set the objective of over 90 per cent of children entering kindergarten and first grade to be fully immunized against whooping cough, diphtheria, tetanus, polio, rubella (German measles) and rubella (hard measles). We also hope to catch measles from a child and her unborn child may be protected from these preventable illnesses and suffering."

Then the health official warned, "Several of these diseases are potential killers. They can lead to congenital deformities and to being born with physician defects if contracted by a mother-to-be during pregnancy. This means that a pregnant mother-to-be can catch German measles from a child and her unborn child may be protected from these preventable illnesses and suffering."

He added that school absenteeism can be greatly decreased by immunization. Dr. Howell said that in the school year 1973-74 over 80 per cent of all children entering Palm Beach County schools were fully immunized.

That means," he stressed, "that 20 per cent were not fully protected from these preventable illnesses and suffering."

Alternative certificates are available from the private physician or health department to parents who object to immunization for religious reasons.

The Omicron Iota Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority elected officers for the 1974-75 in recent installation ceremonies at the home of Mrs. Dorothy Barnes.

Mr. Charles Schiele was elected president for the coming year.

Mrs. Schiele has served as vice-president and social chairwoman in past years and was voted the 1974 Girl of the Year for outstanding service to the chapter.

Other officers include Mrs. Wayne Boynton, president; Mrs. Frank Teets, recording secretary; Mrs. Dudley Barnes, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Tom Zitter, treasurer; Mrs. Bill Mills, extension officer and Mrs. Billy Rogers, sponsor.

The officers were installed during ceremonies held in the parlor of the Barnes home. The seats were decorated by the hanging baskets of geraniums, fern, begonias and numerous pots of Eureka palms, azaleas, trees and flowering plants.

During the installation, the incoming officers were positioned behind a table decorated with the chapter's tablecloth.

The tablecloth was made by Mrs. Tom Zitter. It is in original design depicting the Beta Sigma Phi theme for each year since Omicron Iota was chartered.

Mrs. Rogers was presented yellow roses as a gift.

America! America! God shed His grace on thee."

How aptly these first few lines of the beautifully prayerful song describe much of our land. In some areas, just before the harvest, amber waves of grain stretch as far as the eye can see and, with a brisk breeze blowing, the scene looks like a vast golden ocean. In other areas, one can travel mile after mile with fields of cotton, sugar cane, or tobacco along the road. And in yet other areas one finds mile after mile of orchards. Here the beautifully colored borders of fruits bend tree limbs to the ground. What breath-taking sights to behold!

America! America! What a wonderful and productive land in which to live!

"God shed His grace on thee" could be the condition of man if we let sloth, laziness, carelessness and apathy we spoil this wondrous land beyond reclamation.

Glades Central Seniors

The Belle Glade Herald provided questionnaires for the seniors to fill out at Glades Day School and Christian Day School. We were informed by officials at Glades Central, however, that the questionnaires contained requests for information they were not allowed to ask the seniors. Therefore there are no individual writeups on the Glades Central seniors, only their names.
